

Hope Rising

Despite the continued challenges of the pandemic in 2021, we saw Hope Rising in poignant and powerful ways. While the following data in this report celebrates our incredible impact in 2021, there is still much work to be done. Globally, there are 5 billion people who lack access to timely, high-quality surgical care and even more seeking primary care. We are deeply grateful for your shared commitment to change this reality.

Claire Cunningham, MDP
Chief Executive Officer, One World Surgery

I've always believed that challenges set us up for tremendous growth. I've seen it in my own life, and I've seen it in our work here at One World Surgery. While the past two years have certainly been difficult, never in our history have we seen such progress. Here in Honduras, we have built up the capacity of our local staff and are serving more patients than ever. We've expanded services to include comprehensive primary care, opened an on-site microbiology lab, and established a fellowship program for Honduran surgeons in partnership with the University of Minnesota Department of Orthopedics, Summit Orthopedics, and Dell Medical School.

Our statistics prove this growth: patient infection and complication rates were under 1%, and we maximized the use of all three of our operating rooms. Our local team and medical mission volunteers served 57% more patients compared to 2019, which was our previous record-breaking year.

We are truly building a legacy of hope and healing for our patients and their families. Thank you for partnering with us to transform lives and communities throughout Honduras and the world.

Merlin Antúnez, MD
Medical Director, One World Surgery Honduras

I will always look back on 2021 as a year of renewed hope, substantial growth, and immense impact. And I'll look back with gratitude for each of you, because you are the driving force behind all we do at One World Surgery.

In the Dominican Republic, more patients with chronic diseases are receiving medications, consultations, and health education, resulting in better disease management. Many patients are able to return to their jobs post-care, which shapes the economic stability of families and the community as a whole. I'm excited to share that our growth also extends to a passionate team of local staff who make it possible for us to serve more people and make an even greater impact on the local economy.

On a personal note, I'm so grateful to the many of you who lend your expertise to me through the mission experience and through virtual consults. I am a better physician because of you.

It is exciting that very soon we will host surgical missions to provide healing to many people.

I'm grateful to God for your support, and for extending your hearts and hands to people in need.
